so... stevie, i was thinking, if even just a couple of us post a "free ad" on our myspace pages, then we can easily attract a few more people, also maybe fringe benefits for anyone who refers at least five people?? (small prizes; such as say half an hour of having a top notch web designer work on their page!! ((um.... you!)) or who knows, just kicking around an idea) Anyways, just wanted to say the page is looking great... keep up the good work..... Oh and im having a Christmas Party tonight... nothing special, just some friends and some booze, any time after six, if you havent been invited, but want to come give me a shout at 778 329 3658!

Thanks peeps, sounds like a good idea erik, and you know I'll be there.

sure I'll help anyone out who needs it and especially those who contribute to the site by recruiting...

any other ideas? CherryTap has a cherry bucks system that they use to attract new users, but that is a big much for this site I think.

Maybe you could have a profile rating or various profile titles dependent on how well you recruit.
